Nordic Marine will distribute SOS Dan Buoy & Sea Scoopa rescue equipment

SOS Marine, an Australian manufacturer of marine safety equipment, has appointed Nordic Marine as its dedicated distributor in Holland and Belgium for the two new man overboard rescue products, the SOS Dan Buoy and Sea Scoopa.

“For our European customers these new survival concepts set new standards in marine safety with pioneering ways to respond to an emergency situation” said a spokesman from Nordic Marine.

The portable Sea Scoopa is a new-to-the world rescue device for scooping and lifting a man overboard onto a rescue vessel. This rescue system has different approach to rescue with new improved capabilities to reduce the risk of back injury to crew and the victim.

The award winning SOS Dan Buoy is a compact inflatable marker-buoy that can be thrown into the water as a rescue device.

Based in Zierikzee in the Dutch province of Zeeland, Nordic Marine is a leading supplier of marine products to recreational and commercial accounts throughout the Netherlands and Belgium.

SOS Marine manufactures specialised lifejackets and safety equipment for 9 Naval Forces world-wide. The company has also develops a unique list of professional custom-made safety and rescue products for the Special Forces and Law Enforcement Agencies.
